

Dark Room Retreat

FAQ

We strongly recommend that you read about the Hridaya perspective on Dark Room retreats here, as this will greatly help you understand the spiritual purpose and the deep impact that such retreats may have.

Communication during the retreat:

It will still be possible for you to give written notes to your host. These will be left inside the “food box” and we will find them when we bring you your next meal. It is good however to refrain from writing many notes as this simple act may distract you from your retreat and from the process of interiorization. Therefore it is important that you use discernment and check in with yourself before writing a note to make sure it is a necessary note (or not!).

Usually these will be for practical purposes (eg: needing more toilet paper, requesting to receive a bit less or a bit more food, deciding to skip a meal etc.)

It may be that you will need some guidance or support from your host during your retreat. If this arises, then you may write a note requesting a verbal exchange with your host. We will then be able to speak softly to each other through the door, and will answer any questions you have, or give you some advice, depending on the situation.

Darkness:

The room is especially designed to be completely in darkness. There is only a “food box”, which connects your room to the outside, through which we give you meals, take your dirty dishes, and receive any notes from you. This box is well insulated and is a system that does not admit any light. Therefore, you will be immersed in total darkness.

The room however is not locked, and you may at any time exit if need be.

It is also equipped with a good ventilation system that frequently renews the air of the room.

The connection with Hridaya Yoga France:

Dark Room retreats are a part of the offerings Hridaya Yoga gives to its students. The Hridaya Mexico features a Dark Room on its compound and all Hridaya teachers go through this experience as a pre-requisite to graduate. I, Bérengère, your host, am a Hridaya Teacher, closely connected with the Hridaya France center and ongoingly teaching there.

The Dark Rooms appear on the Hridaya Yoga France website (photos, rates, description etc.)

The role of your hosts:

I, Bérengère am a Hridaya Yoga and Meditation Teacher and I will be your main host, which means: I will welcome you, answer any prior questions you might have about Dark Room Retreats, give you a little orientation tour of the room and how everything works at the time of your check-in, take care of your notes, and if need be, I will also offer you guidance and support during the retreat. I will also offer a post-retreat debriefing and prepare your meals if requested.

Preparing yourself for a Dark Room retreat:

- Step up your spiritual practice! Increase the practice time you already have daily or implement one in the weeks before the retreat. We recommend that you meditate daily. You may also practice some yoga or any other spiritual practice of yours. Try to get into a rhythm with your practice.
- If possible, eat a vegetarian diet in the weeks before the retreat. Avoid alcohol, coffee and any other stimulant.
- Do not take any hallucinogenic or conscious altering substances in the weeks before the retreat.
- You can already contemplate and set an intention for yourself before beginning the retreat

Recommendations for a first Dark Room experience:

For first-timers, we recommend entering the dark for 2-5 days. As we feel more and more comfortable with ourselves, we can gradually increase the length of the retreat.

Doing a Personal Retreat (not in the dark):

The rooms are equipped with a little kitchenette, for those who wish to do a Personal Retreat (not in the dark) and can be booked for this purpose as well. You may design such a retreat as you wish, whether you want to go out for walks, or remain indoors, whether you wish to cook for yourself or have your meals catered for you.

The nightly rate and meal plan rates remain the same.

The time spent in the room as a Personal Retreat is in mauna (silence), dedicated for practice, solitude, and contemplation.

Arriving a few days early or remaining a few days after the retreat to adjust:

You may always arrive a few days earlier or remain in the room after a Dark Room retreat for a few days to readjust if you wish. This will be considered as integration time. The integration time spent in the room is in mauna (silence), dedicated for practice, solitude, and contemplation.

PRACTICALITIES:

What to bring:

- light, comfortable clothes to practice in
- personal toiletries
- yoga mat & meditation cushion (we provide this, but you may like to bring your own)
- water bottle
- We provide: fresh linens, towel, and a yoga mat and meditation cushion

Getting to us:

Our address is: 9 Montée de l'Harmonie in Saint Just d'Avray, a 7min drive away from the Hridaya Yoga France school.

- Driving:

Just look us up in Google maps! You can park your car up on the church plaza, which is just up from our street and a 1min walk away.

- From the Lyon-Saint-Exupéry Airport:

Take the Express train to Lyon Part Dieu train station. Follow the guidelines below for arriving to us by train.

- From Lyon train stations:

Lyon has two main train stations: Lyon Perrache or Lyon Part Dieu. Both have trains going our direction.

From either of these stations, book a train ticket to “Chamelet”. We recommend you book tickets in advance at snf-connect.com .

Once in Chamelet, we will pick you up by car,(for 30€ both ways) it is therefore important to let us know your travel plans early enough for us to organize ourselves.

- From Lozanne train station: 40€
- From the Hridaya center : 10€
